

No Third Way in Iraq

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Frederick W. Kagan

Source The Weekly Standard

Date November 4, 2006

URL <http://weeklystandard.com/Content/Public/Articles/000/000/012/902lfnxh.asp>

Quote

“The notion, commonly expounded by Rep. John Murtha and other advocates of redeployment, that American troops are the main irritant causing the violence in Iraq is demonstrably untrue, as it does not explain the fact that the recent crisis results from Iraqis killing each other wherever U.S. forces are absent.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Coalition troops should pull out on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=No_Third_Way_in_Iraq&oldid=4014"

This page was last edited on December 1, 2006, at 14:27.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.