

2014 Russian military intervention in Ukraine / United States should supply weapons to Ukraine

---

< 2014 Russian military intervention in Ukraine

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

Position: United States should supply weapons to Ukraine

This position addresses the topic 2014 Russian military intervention in Ukraine.

For this position

“ Why did we deny Ukraine weapons? Because in the Barack Obama-John Kerry worldview, arming the victim might be taken as a provocation. This kind of mind-bending illogic has marked the administration’s response to the whole Crimea affair. ”

From Obama’s pathetic response to Putin’s invasion of Crimea, by Charles Krauthammer (The Washington Post, March 20, 2014) (view)

Against this position

“ A settlement is possible if all countries’ security interests are taken into account. This would mean that Ukraine would hold elections with participation and guaranteed protection for ethnic Russians; would have a nonaligned government (stripped of neofascists); would pledge never to join NATO; and would develop economic relations with Russia and the EU (unavoidable if Ukraine is to survive economically). ”

From How to Avert a New Cold War Over Crimea, by The Nation editorial board (The Nation, March 20, 2014) (view)

Mixed on this position

No results

---

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=2014\_Russian\_military\_intervention\_in\_Ukraine\_/\_United\_States\_shou

Id_supply_weapons_to_Ukraine&oldid=17359"

---

This page was last edited on March 21, 2014, at 17:29.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.