

A 'surge' to save Iraq? Sheer madness

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Dan Simpson

Source Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

Date December 20, 2006

URL <http://www.post-gazette.com/pg/06354/747356-374.stm>

Quote

“The obvious solution is to draw down our forces in Iraq. To ask for more troops to meet a need in Iraq that America should not meet -- according to the American people in the Nov. 7 elections as well as in the polls -- is the moral equivalent of a bad kid deliberately breaking his electric train then telling his parents he has to have a newer, better one for Christmas.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position United States should increase troop levels on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=A_%27surge%27_to_save_Iraq%3F_Sheer_madness&oldid=4281"

This page was last edited on December 21, 2006, at 02:41.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.