

A large stimulus bill for large problems

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Scot Lehigh

Source The Boston Globe

Date February 6, 2009

URL http://www.boston.com/bostonglobe/editorial_opinion/oped/articles/2009/02/06/a_large_stimulus_bill_for_large_problems/

Quote

“To address a projected loss of more than $2 trillion in economic activity, Congress is debating an overall stimulus package of $819 billion to $900 billion. Although those figures sound large, on a dollar-for-dollar basis they would plug less than half the growing hole in the economy. So the stimulus size is hardly excessive - and conservatives' calls for cutting it back make little sense.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should be passed on the topic American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=A_large_stimulus_bill_for_large_problems&oldid=9032"

This page was last edited on February 6, 2009, at 22:41.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.