

Bigger together - both Britain and Scotland would be diminished by Yes vote

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The Independent editorial board

Source The Independent

Date September 17, 2014

URL <http://www.independent.co.uk/voices/editorials/scottish-independence-bigger-together--both-britain-and-scotland-would-be-diminished-by-yes-vote-9739438.html>

Quote “ The skittishness of business is perhaps the most worrying factor: it has long been clear that the banks will hop over the border pronto should the Yessers come out on top; but faced with a prolonged period of uncertainty, many other businesses are likely to get cold feet. It should concern the Scottish Nationalists that a large number of voices in so-called Project Fear have come from the private sector; after all, the taxes it pays are needed to line the nest of a fledgling nation. How else are free childcare, free tuition and all the rest to be funded? ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Referendum should pass on the topic Scottish independence referendum, 2014.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Bigger_together_-_both_Britain_and_Scotland_would_be_diminished_by_Yes_vote&oldid=17927"

This page was last edited on September 24, 2014, at 16:55.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.