

Colombia Has Earned Its Trade Pact

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Investor's Business Daily editorial board

Source Investor's Business Daily

Date March 11, 2008

URL <http://www.investors.com/editorial/editorialcontent.asp?status=article&id=290127892750242&secid=1501>

Quote

“ If Colombia were an insular, isolated, parochial state, it might have concluded that fighting terror outside its borders was not in its own best interests. But this state has shown it is not only willing but able to do its part in the global war on terror. The one small benefit it wants from us is Congress' passage of a free trade pact. Democrats are resisting it on scurrilous human rights and protectionist grounds. But isn't what Colombia has done for us enough? ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Agreement should be ratified on the topic Colombia-United States Free Trade Agreement.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Colombia_Has_Earned_Its_Trade_Pact&oldid=7419"

This page was last edited on April 7, 2008, at 13:02.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.