Defeat at Any Price

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

| Author(s) | David Gelernter | |
|-----------|--|----|
| Source | The Weekly Standard | |
| Date | September 15, 2007 | |
| URL | http://www.weeklystandard.com/Content/Public/Articles/000/000/014/117vzffl.asp | |
| Quote | "Of course if our mission in Iraq were wrong or foolish or impossible, we would be right to abandon it. But recall that Americans have fought and died in Iraq to destroy a tyranny that was underwriting terrorism, threatening the peace of its region and the worldand torturing its own people to death. Americans died to put Iraq in the hands of a government that would terrorize neither its own people nor any other nor the world at large. Their mission was noble and right." | ,, |

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Coalition troops should pull out on the topic Postinvasion Iraq.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Defeat_at_Any_Price&oldid=6537"

This page was last edited on September 16, 2007, at 02:24.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.