

Democrats and the Health-Reform Albatross

This is the approved revision of this page, as well as being the most recent.

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Karl Rove

Source The Wall Street Journal

Date September 30, 2010

URL <http://online.wsj.com/article/SB10001424052748704116004575522073624475054.html>

Quote

“Mr. Obama said health-care reform would not only stop insurance premiums from rising rapidly, but also reduce them $2,500 a year per family. Yet PriceWaterhouseCoopers has found that with health-care reform, premiums are likely to rise 111% over the next decade, compared to a projected increase of 79% if nothing had been done. This just makes sense: The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act slathers on mandates, requirements and rules that can only drive up insurance costs.”

The following other items refer to this item: Health reform's reality vs. its parody

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Democrats_and_the_Health-Reform_Albatross&oldid=13048"

This page was last edited on September 30, 2010, at 19:39.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.