

Galvanising the globe

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The Guardian editorial board

Source The Guardian

Date June 4, 2017

URL <https://www.theguardian.com/commentisfree/2017/jun/04/the-guardian-view-on-trump-and-climate-change-galvanising-the-globe>

Quote

“ It is another indication of US readiness to abandon global leadership, and it is a gift to China, ambitious to be seen as a mature and reliable global player, and already a world leader in renewable energy technology. There will not be immediate consequences for the planet, but the time available for effective action is already perilously short; even the threat of a backward step by the world’s second-largest emitter of greenhouse gases could carry serious consequences. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position United States was right to withdraw on the topic United States withdrawal from the Paris Agreement.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Galvanising_the_globe&oldid=29142"

This page was last edited on June 9, 2017, at 16:30.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.