

Health law has life

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The Philadelphia Inquirer editorial board
Source The Philadelphia Inquirer
Date December 19, 2010
URL http://www.philly.com/inquirer/opinion/20101219_Inquirer_Editorial__Health_law_has_life.html

Quote

“ Congress could switch to the carrot approach. Incentives to buy insurance, rather than penalties, would appeal to the young and healthy among the uninsured. Legal challenge or no, the nation still has a moral mandate to assure affordable, quality medical care for 50 million uninsured Americans at risk of suffering debilitating illnesses and death.”

”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Health_law_has_life&oldid=13656"

This page was last edited on December 19, 2010, at 21:28.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.