

Hezbollah Didn't Win

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Amir Taheri

Source The Wall Street Journal

Date August 25, 2006

URL <http://www.opinionjournal.com/editorial/feature.html?id=110008847>

Quote

“ The leaders of the March 14 movement, which has a majority in the Lebanese Parliament and government, have demanded an investigation into the circumstances that led to the war, a roundabout way of accusing Hezbollah of having provoked the tragedy. Prime Minister Fuad Siniora has made it clear that he would not allow Hezbollah to continue as a state within the state. Even Michel Aoun, a maverick Christian leader and tactical ally of Hezbollah, has called for the Shiite militia to disband.” ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item addresses the topic 2006 Israel-Lebanon conflict.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Hezbollah_Didn%27t_Win&oldid=2615"

This page was last edited on August 25, 2006, at 13:49.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.