

Iran's Proxy War

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Joe Lieberman

Source The Wall Street Journal

Date July 6, 2007

URL <http://www.opinionjournal.com/editorial/feature.html?id=110010302>

Quote

“ Iran's purpose in sponsoring attacks on American soldiers, after all, is clear: It hopes to push the U.S. out of Iraq and Afghanistan, so that its proxies can then dominate these states. Tehran knows that an American retreat under fire would send an unmistakable message throughout the region that Iran is on the rise and America is on the run. That would be a disaster for the region and the U.S.”

”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Coalition troops should pull out on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Iran%27s_Proxy_War&oldid=34851"

This page was last edited on June 7, 2023, at 13:53.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.