Iraqi Mirages

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s)	The Washington Post editorial board
Source	The Washington Post
Date	January 18, 2008
URL	http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2008/01/17/AR2008011702385.html
Quote	"The worst mistake the United States could make would be to allow its frustration with Iraqi political leaders to cause it to abandon the military strategy that has delivered that progress. As long as Baghdad neighborhoods are continuing to recover, refugees are trickling home, and Sunni and Shiite militias are helping to keep the peace rather than hunting each other, the U.S. mission in Iraq will be serving a vital purpose."

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Coalition troops should pull out on the topic Postinvasion Iraq.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Iraqi_Mirages&oldid=7171"

This	page	was	last	edited	on	January	/ 24,	2008	, at	16:02.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.