

Judge Hudson's flawed but restrained ruling on the health law

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The Washington Post editorial board

Source The Washington Post

Date December 13, 2010

URL <http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/13/AR2010121305014.html>

Quote “As the Obama administration argued in defending the law, "No person can guarantee that he will divorce himself entirely from the market for health-care services." Even inaction, in this situation, affects economic activity and therefore interstate commerce.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Judge_Hudson%27s_flawed_but_restrained_ruling_on_the_health_law&oldid=13643"

This page was last edited on December 17, 2010, at 21:27.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.