

Leave well enough alone

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) David B. Rivkin Jr., Lee A. Casey

Source USA Today

Date May 11, 2007

URL http://blogs.usatoday.com/oped/2007/05/opposing_view_l.html

Quote

“ Detainees can challenge their classification as enemy combatants in administrative tribunals and can be criminally punished only after a full and fair trial in a military commission. The commission procedures are more protective of the detainees' rights than any military commissions in American history, including those used to try World War II German and Japanese war criminals.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Act should be overturned on the topic Military Commissions Act of 2006.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Leave_well_enough_alone&oldid=7204"

This page was last edited on February 3, 2008, at 20:28.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.