McCain-Feingold Online

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The Wall Street Journal editorial board

Source The Wall Street Journal

Date March 23, 2005

URL http://www.opinionjournal.com/editorial/feature.html?id=110006458

Quote

"Since 2003, when the Supreme Court upheld it, McCain-Feingold has failed spectacularly in its stated goal of reining in fat-cat donors. Yet its uncompromising language has helped to gag practically every other politically active entity--from advocacy groups to labor unions. Now the FEC is being asked to censor another segment of society, the millions of individuals who engage in political activity online."

"

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should be repealed on the topic Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=McCain-Feingold Online&oldid=2883"

This page was last edited on September 6, 2006, at 16:10.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.