No fixing Electoral College

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s)	Ed Quillen
Source	The Denver Post
Date	April 13, 2007
URL	http://www.denverpost.com/opinionheadlines/ci_5655087
Quote	"If there were credible allegations of voter intimidation or fraud in some other state, would you want it to be able to determine where your state's electoral vote went? Probably not. There would be an outcry, and we'd be back to where we are now. The Electoral College has been a mess almost since Day One, but to date, the reform proposals demonstrate only one certainty: There's no good way to fix it."	,,

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Compact should be passed on the topic National Popular Vote Interstate Compact.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=No_fixing_Electoral_College&oldid=27543"

This page was last edited on November 17, 2014, at 06:54.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.