

Senate amendment a threat to political speech

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Vincent Carroll

Source The Denver Post

Date September 9, 2014

URL http://www.denverpost.com/carroll/ci_26500742/carroll-senate-amendment-threat-political-speech

Quote

“ Remember, Citizens United overturned a law that censored the airing of a political video — a film, for heaven's sake — because it was released by a small non-profit near an election. And during oral arguments, the government's lawyer said, according to The New York Times, that "Congress has the power to ban political books, signs and Internet videos, if they are paid for by corporations and distributed not long before an election." ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Amendment should be ratified on the topic Democracy For All Amendment.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Senate_amendment_a_threat_to_political_speech&oldid=17876"

This page was last edited on September 11, 2014, at 02:42.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.