Slapping our Latin allies

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s)	New York Post editorial board
Source	New York Post
Date	December 10, 2007
URL	http://www.nypost.com/seven/12102007/postopinion/editorials/slapping_our_latin_allies_570849.htm
Quote	<ul> <li>"Colombian President Alvaro Uribe has been America's closest friend in South America ever since he inherited his fractured, violence-plagued country five years ago. And he's worked nothing short of a miracle, imposing law and order in regions once overrun with Chavez-backed Communist rebels, powerful drug cartels and paramilitary gangs. Democrats in Congress, however, are holding up a free-trade bill that would help Columbia get on its feet. "</li> </ul>

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Agreement should be ratified on the topic Colombia-United States Free Trade Agreement.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Slapping_our_Latin_allies&oldid=7019"

This page was last edited on December 14, 2007, at 14:43.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.