

Supremes play Solomon

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) New York Daily News editorial board

Source New York Daily News

Date April 19, 2007

URL http://www.nydailynews.com/opinions/2007/04/19/2007-04-19_supremes_play_solomon.html

Quote

“ Writing for the minority, Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg said the majority had jettisoned well-established principles, and she was right. Roberts and Alito demonstrated a willingness to depart from precedent where it suits them, quite like "activist" liberal judges. That's not how you want the Supreme Court to conduct business, but the majority did at least reach a position on abortion that most Americans will likely support.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item takes a mixed stance on the position Supreme Court was correct in its ruling on the topic Gonzales v. Carhart.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Supremes_play_Solomon&oldid=5333"

This page was last edited on April 19, 2007, at 15:36.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.