

Taking Stock: John Bolton's Resignation

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Steve Clemons

Source The Huffington Post

Date December 4, 2006

URL http://www.huffingtonpost.com/steve-clemons/taking-stock-john-bolt_b_35558.html

Quote

“ My problem with Ambassador Bolton was never his cosmetic behavior, it was the content of his views and policy objectives, and the numerous times in which he undermined or sabotaged fragile diplomatic efforts underway and conducted by his colleagues and direct superiors. John Bolton, in my view, saw a significant portion of his job as not to achieve success at the United Nations but rather to set the UN up for failure.” ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Bolton should have been confirmed on the topic Confirmation of John Bolton as U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, 2006.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Taking_Stock:_John_Bolton%27s_Resignation&oldid=4041"

This page was last edited on December 5, 2006, at 13:22.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.