

The ACA: Still Falling Short

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) James Capretta

Source National Review

Date April 1, 2014

URL <http://www.nationalreview.com/article/374728/aca-still-falling-short-james-c-capretta>

Quote

“ Massive public subsidies and expansion of free public-insurance programs can expand insurance enrollment, so long as others were willing to pay for it. But that wasn't what was promised. Americans were told that reform would lower costs for everyone, and that no one would lose the policies they previously held and liked. People are dissatisfied with Obamacare because they've realized the law will never deliver on these promises. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

This item refers to the previous opinion item Numbers of uninsured are not being decreased.