

The Arrogance of Health Care Reform

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) John Stossel

Source Reason

Date July 23, 2009

URL <http://www.reason.com/news/show/134987.html>

Quote

“Politicians and bureaucrats clearly have no idea how complicated markets are. Every day people make countless tradeoffs, in all areas of life, based on subjective value judgments and personal information as they delicately balance their interests, needs and wants. Who is in a better position than they to tailor those choices to best serve their purposes? Yet the politicians believe they can plan the medical market the way you plan a birthday party.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Act should be passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=The_Arrogance_of_Health_Care_Reform&oldid=11388"

This page was last edited on March 11, 2010, at 14:43.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.