

The Obamacare Insurance Exchange Train Is Already Coming Off The Rails

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Sally Pipes

Source Forbes

Date May 27, 2013

URL <http://www.forbes.com/sites/sallypipes/2013/05/27/the-obamacare-insurance-exchange-train-is-already-coming-off-the-rails/>

Quote

“ Henry Chao, a senior federal official working on the information technology that will run the exchanges, said in March that he was “pretty nervous” about meeting the October 1 deadline and was reduced to hoping that the exchanges don’t end up being “a Third World experience.” And it’s not as if the feds and the states have been short on money. The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) will have spent $4.4 billion on state exchange grants by the end of this year. That’s more than double what the Department said would be necessary just last year, despite the fact that fewer states than the feds anticipated agreed to establish their own exchanges. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position Act should not have been passed on the topic Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=The_Obamacare_Insurance_Exchange_Train_Is_Already_Coming_Off_The_Rails&oldid=16537"

This page was last edited on May 29, 2013, at 18:54.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.