

The Robert Taft Republicans Return

---

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Bret Stephens

Source The Wall Street Journal

Date September 3, 2013

URL <http://online.wsj.com/article/SB10001424127887324432404579050821624966890.html>

Quote

“ Republicans should know that deficits are exploding not because of military spending or foreign aid—as a percentage of GDP, George W. Bush spent less on defense in 2008 than Jimmy Carter did in 1980—but because of the growth of entitlement programs. Republicans should know, too, that investing in global order deters more dangerous would-be aggressors and creates a world congenial to American trade, security and values. One cost-effective way of doing that is making an example of a thug who flouts U.S. warnings and civilized conventions. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues for the position United States should intervene on the topic Syrian civil war.

---

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=The\_Robert\_Taft\_Republicans\_Return&oldid=16856"

---

This page was last edited on September 3, 2013, at 14:42.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.