

The fix is in for Brett Kavanaugh

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) The Baltimore Sun editorial board

Source The Baltimore Sun

Date October 4, 2018

URL <https://www.baltimoresun.com/news/opinion/editorial/bs-ed-1007-kavanaugh-20181004-story.html>

Quote

“ Mr. Kavanaugh’s selection was born out of Mr. Trump’s need to reassure the Republican base during the presidential campaign that he would nominate acceptably conservative justices. The confirmation hearings made a mockery of any pretense that the Republican majority would attempt to assess his fitness for the nation’s highest court — or, for that matter, that Democrats would do more than grandstand on the way to a sure defeat in the Senate in hopes of a win at the polls. The Senate Judiciary Committee hearings with Ms. Ford and Mr. Kavanaugh were designed in such a way as to preclude any actual finding of facts. And the FBI investigation that followed, limited in time and scope, was no better. ”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item takes a mixed stance on the position Kavanaugh should be confirmed on the topic Brett Kavanaugh Supreme Court nomination.

Retrieved from "https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=The_fix_is_in_for_Brett_Kavanaugh&oldid=30509"

This page was last edited on December 28, 2018, at 18:14.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.