

We'll Rue Having Judges on the Battlefield

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Andrew McBride

Source The Wall Street Journal

Date June 21, 2008

URL <http://online.wsj.com/article/SB121400406620193453.html>

Quote

“ The idea of our judiciary protecting the "rights" of the Nazis or the Viet Cong from executive overreaching is every bit as absurd as it sounds. But had Boumediene been decided in 1940, more than 400,000 Axis troops held in more than 500 military facilities in this country during World War II would have had a right to challenge their detention in federal court.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Supreme Court was correct in its ruling on the topic Boumediene v. Bush.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=We%27ll_Rue_Having_Judges_on_the_Battlefield&oldid=7782"

This page was last edited on June 22, 2008, at 17:09.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.