

Why we must never abandon this historic struggle in Iraq

The printable version is no longer supported and may have rendering errors. Please update your browser bookmarks and please use the default browser print function instead.

This is an opinion item.

Author(s) Tony Blair

Source The Observer

Date April 11, 2004

URL <http://www.guardian.co.uk/Iraq/Story/0,2763,1189958,00.html>

Quote

“ It is not easy to persuade people of all this; to say that terrorism and unstable states with WMD are just two sides of the same coin; to tell people what they don't want to hear; that, in a world in which we in the West enjoy all the pleasures, profound and trivial, of modern existence, we are in grave danger. There is a battle we have to fight, a struggle we have to win and it is happening now in Iraq.”

Add or change this opinion item's references

This item argues against the position Coalition troops should pull out on the topic Post-invasion Iraq.

Retrieved from

"https://discoursedb.org/w/index.php?title=Why_we_must_never_abandon_this_historic_struggle_in_Iraq&oldid=5058"

This page was last edited on March 22, 2007, at 03:00.

All text is available under the terms of the GNU Free Documentation License.